Simple. Secure. Straightforward.

Foreign buyers can confidently own residential property in Mexico through a well-established legal process. The purchase of Baja Surf House follows the same secure procedures used by the international buyers each year.

FIDEICOMISO (BANK TRUST)

Foreign buyers acquire property through a renewable bank trust that provides full ownership rights, including the ability to sell, lease, remodel, or transfer the property to heirs.

CLOSING

After all requirements are satisfied and funds are transferred, ownership is formally recorded and possession of the property is delivered.

PURCHASE AGREEMENT

Once buyer & seller agree on terms, a purchase agreement is executed outlining price, contingencies, deposits, and closing dates.

FULL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Owners can occupy, rent, improve, refinance, sell, or pass the property to heirs in accordance with Mexican law and the terms of the bank trust.

PUBLIC NOTARY

Verifies ownership, reviews legal documentation, calculates taxes and closing costs, and records the transaction

LOW PROPERTY TAXES

Annual property taxes in Mexico are often significantly lower, helping reduce the long-term cost of ownership.

Questions?

We've Got Answers.

Purchasing a home in Mexico is easier than many international buyers expect. Below are answers to some of the most common questions we receive about Baja Surf House and the buying process.

How far is the beach?

Los Zacatitos Beach is approximately five minutes from Baja Surf House, offering quiet shoreline walks, swimming, and easy access to the Sea of Cortez.

Can foreigners own property in Mexico?

Yes. Foreign buyers acquire residential property through a secure bank trust (Fideicomiso), which provides full ownership rights, including the ability to sell, lease, improve, or pass the property to heirs.

Is the property suitable as a vacation rental?

Yes. Baja Surf House offers many of the amenities sought by vacation guests—including a private pool, air conditioning, modern furnishings, high-speed internet, and proximity to beaches, surf breaks, fishing, and golf—making it an attractive option for short-term rentals.

Why choose an off-grid luxury home?

Baja Surf House combines sustainable living with modern comfort, offering energy independence, lower operating costs, and the confidence of a home designed for reliable year-round living.

How close is Shipwrecks Surf Break?

Shipwrecks, one of East Cape's most iconic surf breaks, is about 20–25 minutes away by car.

Is electricity available year-round?

Yes. The upgraded lithium battery solar system, combined with an 8.5 kW backup generator, provides dependable electricity throughout the year, including extended cloudy or rainy periods.

Is maintaining an off-grid home difficult?

The home's systems are designed for dependable operation with routine maintenance similar to other residential systems. Periodic servicing of the solar equipment, batteries, generator, water system and septic system helps ensure long-term performance.

Is high-speed internet available?

Yes. Reliable internet service (Starlink) supports remote work, video conferencing, streaming, and everyday connectivity.

A Place to Call Home

Designed for effortless indoor-outdoor living, Baja Surf House combines contemporary architecture with warm natural materials, creating inviting spaces that celebrate the beauty of the East Cape.
